

LAUGHING AND DANCING

Donna Baxter

She loved to dance and she loved him
We're not sure how this all began
But late one night I saw them when
He learned to dance cause she loved him.

He loved to laugh and he loved her
His loving smile would fill her world
She'd think about it everyday
How he'd laugh his cares away.

Laughing and dancing for all eyes to see
Laughing and dancing so beautifully
By the light and the glow of the moon up above
If you look in their face you can tell they're in love

Now many years has passed their way
We always wondered how they stayed
So much in love until they revealed
They laughed and danced till midnight still.

Laughing and dancing for all eyes to see
Laughing and dancing so beautifully
By the light and the glow of the moon up above
If you look in their face you can tell they're in love.

By the light and the glow of the moon up above
If you look in their face you can tell it's still love,
